

Native Americans

By Kayla Bezio

Where did they live?

The Iroquois lived in New York near Lake Ontario and Mohawk River in the woods.

Shelter

The Iroquois lived in long houses. The long house is made out of the bark from birch trees.

Clothing/Tools/Hunting weapons

The Indians cloths were made out of animal skin such as deer and bear. They used the animal bones for weapons and tools.

Food

The Iroquois men went hunting for deer, elk, fish and bear. The women planted the gardens. They planted corn, beans, squash, nuts and berries.

Conclusion

The Iroquois Indians are good to learn about because they are creative in many different ways.