

Penguins

By Katie Austin

Penguins live under the equator. Most of the time penguins are in the sea.

Penguins are good swimmers. Penguins can hold their breath for six minutes under water. Penguins can swim fifteen miles per hour underwater, but when they want to go faster they jump in the air.

Penguins are birds. Penguins do not fly, if they try they will get hurt.

There are many types of penguins. The biggest penguin is the Emperor, which is three feet tall.
