By: Erika Gould

Where did they live ?

They lived by the Finger Lakes in New York.

Shelter

The Native of Americans lived in longhouses and made fires to cook and to keep them warm.

The longhouses were like 100 feet long 20 feet wide. They were made out of trees, branches and wood that was around then

Clothes/Tools/Hunting weapons

The Iroquois used bear, deer, and rabbit and other animals for clothes, tools, and hunting weapons.

Food

They ate squash, corn, and animals like deer, bear and rabbits. The women grew squash corn and tobacco.

Conclusion

I learned that the Iroquois Indians had to eat bear deer and other animals. The women and young girls plant and pick crops. The Native of Americans Indians did not have what we have to day. So we should be thankful for what we have. Our houses were built by other people. We have heat in are houses and floors. And that is why we should be thankful.
