

Name _____

As you know, FDR's New Deal was his experimental approach at solving the nation's economic crisis during the 1930's and even in to the 1940's. Today, many people consider FDR one of, if not the, greatest Presidents we have ever had. This is due largely to people's belief that his New Deal program was responsible for getting us out of the Great Depression. As we know FDR's New Deal program, which was the ultimate trial and error, was not the reason we were alleviated from the Great Depression.

Relief – Direct aid or jobs to the unemployed

Recovery – Programs designed to stimulate the economy or farming industry

Reform – Programs designed to prevent a future depression
