

Searching for Bibliographic records with no barcodes in the 852#p field

The screenshot shows a 'Search' window with a blue title bar and standard window controls. The interface is divided into several sections for building a search query. The first section has a 'Search For:' dropdown set to 'Bibliographic'. Below it is a text input field containing '001'. The second section contains a dropdown menu currently set to 'OR', with an annotation pointing to it that says 'Change the "OR" to "NOT"'. To the right of this dropdown is another dropdown menu set to '852#p'. The third section has a dropdown menu set to 'AND' and a text input field containing 'Author'. At the bottom are 'Search' and 'Clear' buttons. Red arrows point from text annotations to specific parts of the interface: one to the '001' field, one to the 'OR' dropdown, one to the '852#p' dropdown, and one to the 'Author' field. A separate annotation on the left explains the asterisk symbol.

Search For: Bibliographic

001

*

NOT 852#p

*

AND Author

Search

Clear

Overtyping with 001 (every record should have this field!)

Change the "OR" to "NOT"

Overtyping with 852#p

The asterisk (*) is computer language for "everything."