

Instructional Support Newsletter

Trish Ervay tervay@wgcsd.org

Welcome to the 2014-2015 school year. This is my second year as an IST and I am here to support you in providing great learning opportunities for our students. I have taught for more than 20 years and my experience has been in grades pre-K through adult education. You can email or call me for support in technology, STEM, and Common Core as a beginning. However, I can be a resource for more than that. If you ever want to share what you are doing, look for another way, are searching for some confidential, professional feedback just let me know.

I am scheduling Thursday after school offerings this year. There will be one time a month scheduled training, one time a month open lab, and a one time a month parent support session. You will need to complete Professional Development paperwork prior to deadline dates as well as sign in at the beginning of the session to be paid for your after school time. A calendar will be emailed to you during the first week of school.

Teaching Channel – www.teachingchannel.org

This is a great free resource. When you register you can choose to email on resources that match your interests. You can search the site for ideas and strategies. You can save videos on the site to view later or keep for reference. The video link below is for grades 9 – 12 but it could be applied to lower grades as well. Contact me if you would like assistance in setting up your account.

Videos you may be interested in:

TEACHING PRACTICE

Vocabulary Paint Chips

Grades 9-12 / ELA / Synonyms